INTERNATIONAL MUSEUM DAY

SUNDAY, MAY 21, 2023, ULM / NEU-ULM

INTERNATIONALER MUSEUMSTAG

Discover our museums

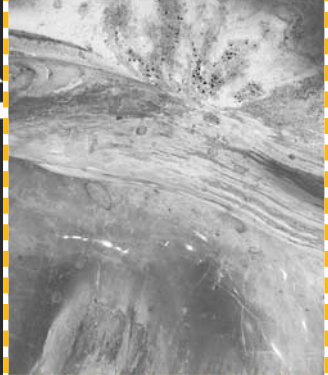

On May 21, 2023, International Museum Day will take place for the 46th time.

With a wide-ranging program and free admission, all museums and exhibition centers in Ulm/Neu-Ulm and the region invite you, dear art and culture enthusiasts, to immerse yourself in the thematic diversity of our museum landscape. Art enthusiasts or those interested in history, nature freaks or design specialists, photography fans or sustainability visionaries – there is something for everyone.

We would like to involve you directly on this day of action in the form of guided tours, hands-on activities, digital offers and much more. A varied program is also available for the very youngest, from the “bee rally” to a digital scavenger hunt and creative workshops. Awaken your sense of discovery and take part in our traditional picture search game, for which you will find instructions on the following page. There are great prizes again this year!

We wish you a day full of inspiring discoveries!

Happy Museum Ulm @ kunsthalle weishaupt! Joint work table

11 am – 5 pm Attention big and small artists! The Museum Ulm is being rebuilt. Today it is our guest in the foyer and together we will ask ourselves what a new museum could look like. At an open work table, all visitors can create their own vision and collage an exhibition with artworks from both houses.

Mr. Roaster - Dancing beans in the billbar

2 pm and 5 pm Show roasting sessions with the coffee bean as the main character (20 minutes each) (in German). Roast with us and learn everything you ever wanted to know about coffee.

VORSICHT

UMBAU!

Für MEHR
Museum Ulm

Happy Museum Ulm @ kunsthalle weishaupt!

Caution, rebuilding! The Museum Ulm closes its doors from mid-April, but of course it goes on in front of and behind the scenes. We will cooperate with the neighboring kunsthalle weishaupt and are therefore a "happy museum"! After the Triennale Ulmer Kunst this summer, you can experience the museum in an exhibition from A to Z from January 2024 in the Kunsthalle. Be curious about what we are planning for the new exhibition, how the reconstruction is progressing and how (sustainable) the museum will be designed in the future!

joint work table in the foyer of the kunsthalle weishaupt

11 am – 5 pm Big and small artists pay attention! The museum is being rebuilt – but how will it look like afterwards? At the joint work table, all visitors can create their own vision of the museum and collage an exhibition with art works from both institutions.

Don't miss it! In the course of the day, one or the other surprise awaits you. More details are yet to be revealed. Stop by and find out!

Familiar stranger: Edwin Scharff

Everyone here knows Edwin Scharff – at least by name. The guided tours tell you about the artist and the person behind who was one of the most important German sculptors of the first half of the 20th century

10:30 pm Short guided tour (in German)

„Theater Morgenroth & Schwester“ as guest in the Edwin Scharff Museum

Die FÜR-IMMER-AG (play for children from 5 yrs on, duration: c. 45 min., in German)

2 pm & 4:30 pm On a boring summer day, Luzie and Karl find a dead bumblebee which they bury. But only one funeral is not enough: they establish the “FÜR-IMMER-AG” (Forever Inc.) and start looking for other dead animals to which they can pay their last respects. In this play the topics of funerals and death are treated with lightness, humour and childlike matter-of-factness.

Actionbound: Explore the museum! for children and their families

1 pm How many stairs lead to the Children’s Museum? And what are these wall runners by the artist Volker März doing there? Accompanied by our museum guide, you go on a digital paper chase through the entire museum. All you need is a smartphone, the Actionbound app and a whole lot of spirit of discovery.

What you don't get to see otherwise

During a tour through the Stadthaus-“catacombs” the technical director Paul Stauber shows operating rooms, that are actually hidden. You'll learn about chillers, grease separators and much more. On her family tour for children, parents and grandparents, Silvia Keppler explains where swimming pool ladders and a “flying carpet” can be found in the Stadthaus.

Like A Bird by Johanna-Maria Fritz provides impressive insights into the circus culture of Islamic countries and in the exhibition Birte Horn – set_up you will learn for the first time how the artist is inspired. Marco Hompes, who is well known in Ulm and director of the Heidenheim Art Museum, will speak at the opening of the exhibition.

At a moderated concert, the Trio Solovey with Eva Möritz (soprano), the Ulm prizewinner Katharina Rodionov, née Möritz (flute) and Dmitry Rodionov (piano) will play songs by Liszt, Schubert and Spohr.

The Walther Collection continues its focus on African photography with a dialogic exhibition of works by Santu Mofokeng (1956–2020) and David Goldblatt (1930–2018), two of the leading figures in contemporary South African photography. Curated by art historian Tamar Garb, the exhibition opens up dynamic spaces for re-examination and re-interpretation by interweaving the works of these extraordinary, internationally celebrated photographers. This unique approach offers new perspectives on the oeuvre of Mofokeng and Goldblatt whose socio-political practice routinely blurs established boundaries between social documentary and fine art – recording everyday life and the vicissitudes of South African society during and after apartheid both poetically and objectively. Highlighting the distinctiveness of each while questioning the binaries through which they are customarily viewed, the exhibition invites viewers to explore more than 100 artworks from the Collection's expansive holdings, and detach themselves from preconceived patterns of perception and embrace new ways of looking.

100 years of natural (hi)stories

For a hundred years, the museum for natural history in Ulm provides a space for journeys into the prehistory of Ulm and through the nature of our region. As part of our big anniversary, we open yet two special exhibitions on the international museums day:

“Pearls of the Archives”

One hundred exhibits of the museum, usually buried in the depths of the archives, far away from the visitors, are brought into the light of day. One object for each year of our existence. The exhibition also provides insight to the centennial history of our museum.

“Native butterflies”

Amongst our giant insect models, we take a closer look at the secret life of native butterflies. We follow known and unknown moths and butterflies from the caterpillar up to the hatched butterfly.

Additionally on that date, we start our celebration weeks with diverse lectures, open guided tours twice a week, children’s program and much more. During this time, the admission is free.

work in progress

The city of Ulm is currently setting up a museum for its most famous son, Albert Einstein, and his family. The focus of the museum will not be on the Nobel Prize winner's scientific achievements but on the relationship with his family in Ulm.

The small museum is being installed at the Weinhof, in the building called "Engländer" where the grandparents of the famous physicist used to live. Apart from the Münster, this house is probably the only building in Ulm still standing that Einstein is very likely to have entered.

On Museum Day 2023, the future museum will open its doors. You will see the wonderful room in which the museum will be set up. And, with a little imagination, the visitors will get an idea of what will be discovered there in the future. Scheduled opening: March 2024

We, the Future! – Agency in a Globalised World

What impact do our decisions have on society and its future? Can we also think of our agency “globally”? Based on different topics such as tourism, climate change, and migration the exhibition “We, the Future!” focuses on the extent of our actions in a globalised world. At the same time, it shows possibilities for shaping a future together and sustainably for all.

In addition to a guided tour of the exhibition by the curator, you will also have the opportunity to take part in a workshop with the designer and shoemaker Sophia Guggenberger. Gain hands-on experience and get fascinated by sustainable shoe design.

Registration for the workshop is required by Fri 19 May / Number of participants limited to 10/25 euros p.p.

Herr Zopf's hairdressing museum – the world's largest of its kind – presents visitors to the museum day with a piece of "hairdressing history", from surgeon barbers to wig makers and today's hairdressers. On more than 600 square meters, the museum on the site of the Orange Hotel in Neu-Ulm presents over 30,000 fascinating, lovingly displayed exhibits that have already inspired visitors from all over the world. The informative, exciting and anecdotal guided tours through contemporary history breathe life back into past epochs of the "most beautiful industry" in the world.

David Gerstein – Pop Art at the Kunstverein Ulm

David Gerstein's works come with vibrant color, lots of optimism and pure joie de vivre. Born in Jerusalem in 1944, the Pop Art artist believes that art must touch life. "It must not become something you look at once a year in a museum." The ease of access combined with the fascinating play of deep spatiality blur the boundaries between the pictorial 2-dimensionality of painting and the 3-dimensionality of sculpture, literally making his steel sculptures float.

The historic Schuhhaussaal of the Kunstverein Ulm e.V. can be visited on Museum Day from 11 am to 5 pm.
